sitting on the porch. Attired in a striped bathrobe, when this reporter accompanied by Terry Kay, one of the most famous photographers in the country, entered the Capone estate, Kaplan wanted to take pictures of Capone but he would not allow it, although he did permit the camera man to take a few shots of the magnificent $2,000,000 mansion.

No Guards, No Guns

It is true, I asked Capone, that you always carry a gun? It is not in my right hand, quickly. Why not? I am a peaceable citizen. No, I do not carry a gun. If I did I would be breaking the law, and I am not breaking the law.

Capone, who is 40, knows nothing whatever of the intricacies of a man's life. He is a mystery to his friends and to the public. He is a man of many faces, and his life is a mystery to all who know him.

His main worry right now is the illness of his only son, Al Capone Jr., 10 years old, who has been in the hospital for several months. The boy is at the estate here on parole.

Plans I have vision. Capone had a tutor for the boy but has dismissed him as the child needs rest more than anything else. Capone will be home again in a few days, and he will be in a college education. The best education that money can buy, Capone said he knows what it is to have a good education.

I only went as far as fourth grade in grammar school. He remarked regretfully.

Capone receives a certain restricted number of visitors at his secluded home. Among his callers was Jack Sharkey, who fights young, Stirling, at Madison park next Wednesday night. On Sharkey's second fight, he broke his rule never to let a photo be taken of him. He is a picture of the two of them together.

He picks Stirling. I pick Stirling to win, although for personal reasons I would like to see Sharkey win. Capone said in reply to my question. I think the many fights that Stirling has had recently will stand him in good stead. He has fought himself into excellent condition.

YOUTH IS FREED

Parents of Boy 11 Months Held Refuse To Pardon

GREENUP, Ky., Feb. 22.—Philip Robert, 10-year-old high school student who was held for having killed his friend, Carl Hein, in a fist fight, was freed today.

The parents of the dead boy refused to prosecute Robert, claiming that the boy had been provoked and that the fight was not a grudge affair but came as the result of each boy using the other about in back of the head.

The fight took place in the first high school gym. The boy who killed the other was a broken neck when he landed on the floor.

KILLING BY TRAIN. URBANA, Ill., Feb. 22.—Testimony of a local fireman today in a jury trial revealed that a fireman was killed by a train when he was working on the tracks near here.

He was a signalman's helper and had been working on the tracks for three days. He was struck by the train when he was approaching the crossing.

It is what a small boy has to do at home every day that he passes up when dining at a neighbor.

Does the Oil
you're using now have the 4 essentials of complete and proper lubrication?

1. Low Carbon Content
2. Non-fouling Carbon
3. Ideal body at all Operating Temperatures
4. Low Pour Point

Check your present oil for these four characteristics. Every oil of course has one of them. A few have two or even three. But only Shell Motor Oil combines them all.

After all
Isn't this the real test of motor oil?

THERE is no simple way to check the quality of motor oil. Not color. . . Not the way it feels between the fingers. . . Not even price. . . And not mileage between crankcase changes.

Oil must have four characteristics, engineers say, if lubrication is to be both complete and correct. There are four essentials which motor oil must have.

Thousands of automobile owners have found one oil—Shell Motor Oil—which meets these requirements in every way.

Regular users of Shell Motor Oil report a marked reduction in carbon removal jobs. They enjoy amazing freedom from power losses due to carbon accumulations. That's because Shell has an extremely low carbon content—20 to 33 per cent less than a number of other popular and nationally-known oils.

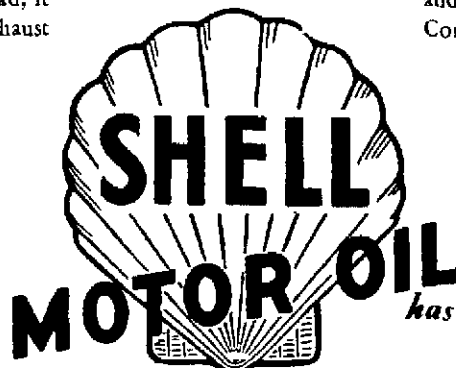

And the small amount of carbon which forms in a motor lubricated by Shell, is soft, fluffy and non-fouling. It does not bake on metal surfaces or cling to moving parts. Instead, it blows out with the exhaust.

gases. Shell Motor Oil has body and stamina. It won't break down. It provides the same protection to an engine at sixty miles an hour as at twenty. And to body, Shell adds a low pour point which makes starting easy and lubrication swift and certain in cold weather.

Shell Motor Oil is today's outstanding development in the science of automobile lubrication. Shell crude comes from hand-picked wells. Refined by the new and exclusive Shell-developed, low-temperature process. Never scorched, never weakened by the heat of ordinary refining practice. And tested 259 times to check and certify the rich, unvarying quality of every quart.

That quality is adding countless extra better miles to thousands of cars like yours. That quality has, in a short time, made Shell one of the best-selling oils in America.

STOP AT THE SIGN OF THE SHELL—and let the Shell Lubrication Chart be your guide. You will find courteous attendants at the familiar yellow and red Service Stations. Convenient everywhere.

MRS. DAVID CULP

After 16 years of misery, 4 years of stomach trouble and 16 years of kidney trouble, I have gained glorious health from 3 bottles of New Konyola. I praise it to all sufferers. I had been suffering for years with stomach trouble and kidney trouble. I had tried many remedies, but nothing helped. Then I heard of New Konyola, and I decided to try it. I bought three bottles, and after taking them, I felt better. I gained weight, and my stomach and kidneys were better. I am now healthy and happy. I praise New Konyola to all sufferers.

Stomach Distress, Kidney Disorders and Nervousness All Relieved By Nu-Erb, She Declares

Dr. Francis Nu-Erb, the great medical authority, has recently introduced in Marion by the Nu-Erb Pharmacy a new medicine which is giving daily in proof its power to relieve the most distressing conditions of the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels.

Every day some person is telling how it relieves digestive disorders, strengthens weak kidneys, cures a lazy liver, relieves constipation, quiets the nerves or drives rheumatic aches and pains from the system in many cases after every thing else has failed.

"No Nu-Erb has given me such outstanding relief from health troubles that I have suffered from nearly all my life and for that reason I will gladly recommend it to all others who know the merits of this splendid medicine," said Mrs. J. W. Chin, 180 W. Center St., Marion, Ohio.

"For longer than I can remember I have never been free from the agonizing distress of indigestion and gas formations in my stomach after meals. This gas seemed to press up against my heart causing flatulence, shortness of breath, pain and a choking feeling through my chest. My kidneys were in a very poor condition, they disturbed me all night long. It was a relief when I got a good night's sleep. I also suffered from staggering dizziness, severe headaches and I became so nervous that I was restless, irritable and felt tired and worn out. A form of neuritis settled in my shoulders, which caused a distressing, burning pain.

"For many years I have been using medicine, it seems to me that I have never found it possible to get long without them, yet at the same time, there was none of them that ever gave me anything more than temporary relief and the actual troubles kept growing worse from year to year. I had become so worn out that I was almost a wreck. I had been told that Nu-Erb was different, for it has given me the most decided relief from these stomach, kidney and nervous troubles. I have never had a headache, a stomach ache, or any other trouble since I began using Nu-Erb. I feel like a new man. I am now able to do all the work I want to do. I am now able to do all the work I want to do. I am now able to do all the work I want to do."

Persons who take Nu-Erb say that there is nothing like this remarkable medicine to put an end to such misery and suffering. It tones, strengthens and regulates the stomach, kidneys, liver and bowels and drives poisons from the system which cause rheumatism and neuritis. Nu-Erb is free from minerals and all harmful narcotics and drugs.

Stump & Sons Pharmacy, 121 S. Main St., is the only place in Marion where Nu-Erb may be purchased. When you Nu-Erb may be purchased, you will know the merits of this remarkable medicine.

This New Way of Fadeless Washing

This costly peach colored chemise was washed 37 times and shows no perceptible fade.

This New Way of Cleansing

Stops Wash Tub Fading Regardless of Repeated Washings—And Cuts Washing Time in Half

MODERN day science has taken the fade danger out of home washing. Perfected a way that ends soap fade and ruining of fine things. Not a soap—but a discovery that makes even ordinary soap safe. That's why you can wash ordinary soap suds that makes even harsh hard water and ordinary household soap into a virtually NO FADE combination. You can wash the most exquisite things—often 50 times or more—without noticeable fade or soap-eat-wear. Can keep priceless table china safe from dishpan fade indefinitely. And—cut your work time one half or more. Women everywhere are flocking to it.

What It Is

That takes the harshness out of so-called "hard" water, the hardness that makes extra rubbing and the superfluous use of strong soap necessary to get things white and clean.

That turns that harsh "hard" water INSTANTLY into water so soft that it does the work with ONE FOURTH the amount of soap you now use.

That due to bland cleansing qualities "Resol"

Clamoline DISSOLVES all dirt and grime. And thus again cuts the amount of soap you use. And cuts washing time—either on board or in washing machine—20% or more. Consider what that means in saving time, and money.

CLIMALENE

You just add two tablespoons to a tub of water. That is all. Use the same soap you are in the habit of using. Then see for yourself the amazing results.

To prove those points we wash fine things all day long. French linens for instance, we wash 40 to 50 times with this preparation and strong soap or washing flakes. Even the most delicate colors do not fade.

We wash fine colored table linens up to 50 times—WITHOUT fade. We take gold embroidered cloths of almost priceless value, and wash them.

strong soap hundreds of times And never a sign of gold worn away.

We pay $3 for fine stockings of light fast color
 They stand up to the wash and wear.

AND—it acts actually as a BEAUTIFIER to the hands. Never before have you seen a cleanser so gentle.

Remember the name—Cleansene. Your grocer has it in 10c and 25c packages.

The VANGUARD

By Arnold Bennett

"I came up in the launch," said Harriet. "Not the first?" the baron de- and. "The first? Why not? I'd a lot of important housekeeping to do." The cutter does all the buying—except the big things that the purser does. And he knows the whole job. I reckon he's marketed in pretty nearly every big port in Europe." "But home isn't a port," said Harriet. "And even if it was, your car- rier wouldn't know how to market it. I've seen yacht excursions at their deadly work in Southampton and Torquay. They go into shops as sheep to the sacrifice. The tradesmen can sniff them half a mile off. No! But I brought the caterer with me, as well as the purser with his purse. Mr. Antelope informed me that he'd never known a yacht to go a woman housekeeper before. What fun he is—and doesn't guess I'm waiting for me. I haven't begun to shop yet. But when I've walked with those two sometime this afternoon, they'll be worth a great deal more to you than they used to be. It's fortunate for you that my mother put me through a stiff course of housekeeping when I was young. Then, among other things, I speak English—and not like an English man either."

Lord Furber curiously asked: "And have you climbed up here just by your own praises and show off your frock?" Or is there anything else?" He had ceased to be an insect crossing the Piazza of St. Peter's, and was once more a full-sized million- aire.

"Pleasant also," Harriet replied. "What I've told you is only the over- view. I've sent a doctor down to the yacht by car."

"Anybody ill?"

"Depends what you call 'ill.' Mrs. Bumpston's ankle was about a yard a circumference this morning. She didn't sleep all night. And Bump- ston didn't sleep. Bumpston foresees himself a widower, and Mrs. Bump- ston is terrorizing the stewards, so that I thought I'd better wait on her myself. I told her if she wasn't quiet I should pour some water over her face. She would not let me. I got the water all ready in a jug, and held it over her. And she was quite. We now understand each other. It is an old story. Nobody ever has died before."

The baron laughed. "Harriet," said he, "I can see you're destined to make some good man unhappy for life. But it isn't going to be me—I promise to stay. What else have you for me?"

"Haven't I told you?" said Harriet. "I've hardly begun yet. Mr. Robbington came on board at 10 o'clock this morning in a great state. 'Who's Mr. Robbington?' 'Don't you know? You ought to. He's the Home Correspondent of your paper, the Courier.'"

"Of course he is. Well, I can't be expected to remember the names of all the foreign correspondents of my newspapers, can I? What was he after? He wasn't supposed to know that I was anywhere near Rome. Nobody was supposed to know. Smart fellow, Robbington! Smarter than I thought."

The Message

"He didn't know you were near Rome. At least he didn't know last night when he was telephoning his message to the Courier. He ought to have found out after the message had gone."

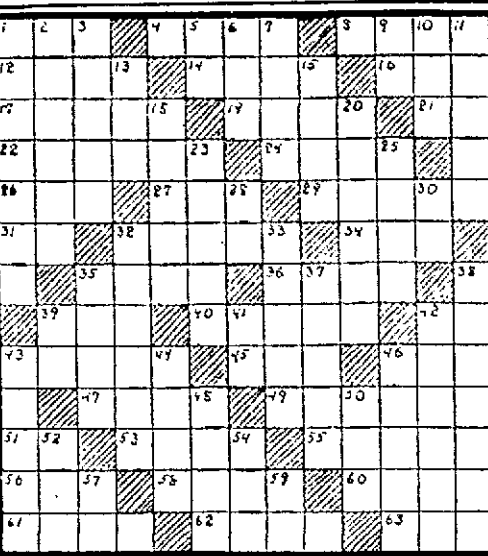

"What message?"

"About a strange English yacht being at Ostia, and sensational things going on on the yacht. Women being entrapped from launches and strung on board against their will like cat- tle. And all that kind of thing. He'd got wind of it. He knew it all except the name of the yacht—and that seems to have gone wrong on the Italian telephone."

"Who told you?"

"He told me himself. He saw the captain first. He didn't say much to the captain. The captain sent him to me—everybody seems to come to me. He was very kind to me, Mr. Robbington was. An artistic young man—quite the journalist. He rushed back to Rome in his car, and

Love's Awakening

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affections

By Adele Garrison

There was such delicious South-Sea music in Noel Veritza's question concerning marriage without love that I would have been hugely amused had not my ear caught the accents of real desperation in his voice. The boy's emotional mood of some understanding soul was potent and my reply was prompt.

"My belief always has been that only a great love should be solemnized by marriage," I said quietly, but with emphasis. "But am I wrong in thinking you have some personal and urgent reason for asking the question? Can you tell me about it?"

His naturally pale face suddenly was crimson, and I saw that he was facing something brutally distasteful to him. I remained myself grimly about the old saying concerning the redemptive merits of executing a sheep and a lamb, and resolved to spare him as much of the ordeal as possible.

"Would it make it easier for you?" I asked softly. "I told you that I already knew what Miss Jackson asked of you yesterday?"

His fingers suddenly tightened upon his after-dinner coffee cup, of unusual fragility for a restaurant, and the next instant the handle had snapped and the cup dropped to the floor.

"Steady," I whispered warily, as our waiter hurried over, and Noel pulled himself together, accepted the fresh cup the man proffered, and gave him a courteous direction to in- clude the cost of the shattered one in the bill.

"Thank you," the boy said grate- fully when the man had left us again. "Then do you also know who she really is?"

"I have known for some time that she is Princess Ollia of Transylvania," I returned. "Am I right in thinking you did not know it until yesterday?"

"The told me yesterday," he re- plied, "then after a second's pause broke out impulsively.

"That makes it an utterly impos- sible, Mrs. Graham. If she were not a princess, if she didn't have every- thing in the world if she wanted me, perhaps I could make myself do as she wished—even though—perhaps— things might be—brightening for me."

His voice trailed away confusedly, but I knew that he was visioning Mary's unusual friendliness to him at our impromptu dance on the night of the British visit. And yet with that prospect of happiness opening before him, his chivalry could con- sider marrying another girl because she "needed" him?

I felt an irritated impulse to smack him soundly, and with diffi- culty kept my tongue out of my voice as I answered him.

"I think you need some advice more than any person I know," I said slowly, looking at him steadily. "Will you forgive me if I talk very plainly to you and ask you some pertinent— rather impertinent—questions?"

His brown eyes, the possession of which any girl would have envied him, held the expression of a be- wildered collic which suddenly sees a familiar face.

"Don't you know that you can say anything you like to me?" he said fervently, and I smiled a bit grimly. "I shall take full advantage of that permission," I told him. "First, we'll clear a few cobwebs away. You have no right to marry the Princess Ollia. It would be unwise if you loved her. As you don't it would be unthinkable, even if she loved you, which she doesn't."

I was watching him narrowly. Most modern young men would have betrayed a touch of chagrined reality at this information, even though it meant release from an unwelcome truth. But there was nothing save a certain relief in Noel Veritza's eyes.

"Oh, Mrs. Graham," he breathed, "How do I know?"

"How do I know?" I finished, smilingly as he stopped abruptly. "You might employ those overworked words 'faintling intuition' for want of anything better. She not only doesn't love you—although no doubt she is firmly convinced just now that she cannot live without you—but she really is in love with the young man whom you know as George Jackson."

His face shadowed at that name, and the relief I had misread was tinged with bewilderment.

"He is also unrequited?" he asked, adding with quick apprehen- sion, "Who is he?"

I told him, and he repeated the other's name and title slowly.

"Prince George, nephew of the King of Greece," Noel said quick- ly.

"Yes, Mary knows," I answered, understanding the fear which had sprung into his eyes, the dread that his beloved would be dazzled by the young prince's rank and romantic setting. I was trying to show the best way of obviating millions of mis- dates and telling him of Mary's en- gagement, when a blinding vision which held a note of pure wonder from the strange outside.

"Oh! not here, George! I didn't know we were coming here."

A Story of Humorous Boyhood Adventure

By JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

WHEN I got up this morning I got to thinking about Podgeen being sick and everything, and it was dark and kinda weird, and I wondered if he died it maybe his ghost would come to tell me he was dead, and I hope it don't. I don't mind Podgeen, but I don't want any ghost setting on the side of my bed and telling me things. Geop says there isn't any such thing as a ghost but he had to own up that he hadn't ever seen one, so he don't know what he is talking about. I had got to thinking about Podgeen and death and such things till I thought I had better stay in bed till it got a little lighter before I got up, so I stayed there till my father came in the stairs and called. Then I got up. A girl don't know what a ghost can do to him, but he knows what a father can.

The bunch got out to the barn before I got up, and they said to hurry up and get a move on me, so we could all go down and see Podgeen's house before school and see if there was any craps on the door, but by the time I had fed my face it was too late. Then when we got to school there was the principle stand- ing by the front door and she said this was the birthday of the father

Rehearsals Promise Real Treat in De Molay Show

Laughs until he is weak at the antics of the first night rehearsal of the De Molay Show. The play is a serious one, but the actors are so good that the audience is sure to be entertained. Last night at Masonic Temple at 10:30 a rehearsal of the play was held. The play is a serious one, but the actors are so good that the audience is sure to be entertained.

What a funny way to escape a COLD. Prevent a cold by rinsing the hands with Listerine before each meal. Sounds strange doesn't it? Not when you know the facts, however. During the day your hands accumulate germs. Ordinary washing with soap and water doesn't destroy them. So, carried to the mouth on food, they develop, attacking the mucous membrane. A cold or sore throat or both frequently follows. Full strength Listerine is powerful against germs—kills most varieties in 15 seconds. Therefore its use on the hands before each meal is simply another wise precaution against colds and sore throats. Mothers handling children's food should particularly bear this in mind. Write for our great free book, "Personal Hygiene."

Norwegian Rewards Local Youth for Friendly Deed

ITALY and friendship den Harding in the summer of 1923. Yesterday Ruding received a letter from Karl M. Andersen of Nasset, Norway, expressing thanks for favors shown the Norwegian visitors while in the city. Andersen's letter was a check of valuable Norwegian stamps as a gift to Ruding. The stamps will be made a prized part of the Marion youth's collection.

Recalls Visit Here

In his letter Andersen recalls that when he arrived in Marion to attend the Harding funeral he had difficulty in finding a place to park his automobile. Ruding the letter states that Andersen and members of his party to park their car in front of the rear yard already being filled with machines.

Further more Andersen wrote to a lucky strike I found you address given to me by and on my inquiry he told me that he had from a friend to send you some stamps for your collection.

Now I don't know whether it is too late or not but of course I am sure it is not too early to show our gratitude by sending you these few words to thank you for your kindness and to enclose a few stamps in the hope they may add a few items to your collection or may prove to be useful in exchange.

Here Address

Andersen states that while in Portland, Ore., on their tour from Los Angeles to New York he and members of his family heard President Harding speak shortly before his death and arrived in Marion at the time of his funeral.

In closing his letter Andersen writes: Please dear sir accept all the best wishes to the American highway along to us.

PAT, PALS FOREGO ROAST PORK MEAL

Thomas Hopes Guards' Pay Will Be Boosted by Legislature

COVINGTON, Feb. 22.—While Pat McDermott, the gunman who played the leading role in the Don Mellett assassination and three others of the five convicts who saved their way to a short-lived freedom from the Ohio state penitentiary early Tuesday launched in solitary confinement at the institution today the remainder of the convicts were enjoying a dinner of roast pork.

The prison menu on George Washington's birthday anniversary follows: roast pork, roast potatoes, creamed carrots, bread pudding, pear pie, bread and coffee.

Warden P. J. Thomas remarked today that it is an all wind that blows no good.

As a result of the daring and deliberate jail delivery legislative action may be taken to provide an increase in pay and shorter hours for the penitentiary guards.

Guards at the penal institution now receive from $100 to $120 a month. Proposed action would raise the compensation to from $120 to $160 and is on the working day to eight hours. The guards now spend 12 hours a day at the prison.

Of the five who escaped only James Walton Cleveland robber is still at large.
